Hidden Assets of the Former RSHA

1. Canise, a trusted and reliable agent, met recently a former colleague from the days of the late but unlamented Reichssicherheitshauptamt. This man, Emil Hochberger, now residing at Hirschauerstrasse 20, München 23, was one of the RSHA's "business men"; i.e., he belonged to the group of individuals who engaged, with official blessing, in all kinds of semi-legal and illegal activities, with the purpose of raising confidential funds for the RSHA.

2. Canise thought that Hochberger might possibly know something about the RSHA funds which were buried in 1945. While I am not as optimistic as that, I thought the information might be of use to your organization. It is accordingly forwarded for whatever use you might care to make of it.
